

Jobs in a hotel

Are you a waiter? Or a chef? Or a hotel receptionist?

The Hotel Esplanade is a hotel in Spain. It's on an island with three beaches!

For a job, email: themanager@hotelesplanade.com

Presentation

a/an + single noun

- Use a before words with consonants: a waiter, a chef, a hotel, a teacher.
- Use an before words with vowels: an island, an animal, an artist, an airport.

I'm	a student.
You're	a waiter.
He's	a teacher.
She's	an artist.

plural nouns

- Add -s to most nouns: a job → jobs, a hotel → hotels
- Change y to ies: a country → countries, a city → cities
- Add -es to nouns ending in -s, -ch, and -ss:
a bus → buses, a beach → beaches,
an address → addresses

Single nouns	Plural nouns
a job	jobs
a city	cities
a beach	beaches

no article + plural nouns

- Don't use a/an with plural nouns. Say teachers (don't say a teachers)
We're waiters. You're doctors.

Key vocabulary: Occupations: artist, chef, doctor, engineer, (hotel) receptionist, musician, nurse, student, teacher, waiter
